WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Is This the Corroboration of the Charge Made by the News?

Or, Is It the Indiscretion of a Man Who Wears a Label?

[Houston Post.]

Austin, January 21.—Some lively rumors have been going the rounds here for some days past, and although reporters have been unable to locate precisely the origin of these reports, they appear to be quite generally credited, especially by those who have heretofore been unable to divine the true cause of the violent warfare made on the governor by the Galveston News. That there was and is some secret reason for these intemperate attacks, which of late have grown bitterly personal, no one acquainted with the character and methods of the News has had the least doubt, and whether these late rumors furnish the proper clue to the actual cause or not, the fact remains that they will not lack for numbers upon numbers who will subscribe to their perfect truthfulness and accuracy. The story goes that some weeks ago Col. Flournoy, late of Texas, but now of California, while visiting Texas, had some very confidential interviews with the management of the News. Col. Flournoy is attorney for the Huntington railroad interests, and the beginning of this fight on the governor being almost contemporaneous with Flournoy's visits, considered in connection with his reported intimacy during that visit, with the management of the News, lead philosophers to put this and that together, from which the conclusion is reached that the News was "fixed." At least that is the gossip here. It is reported that a letter has been received here by a prominent gentleman which throws considerable light upon the subject. The programme was arranged that Col. Flournoy of Fort Worth was to be carefully guarded (Col. Smith being largely interested in railroad property) and be brought out at the proper time for the governorship; but premature discussion of Smith's name leading to a newspaper interview containing expressions from that gentleman placing himself out of the reach of the campaigners, a tack was rendered necessary and Senator Terrell settled upon as the man to tie the convention with Ireland and let in the real man selected by Huntington for governor of Texas. The senator was to make a fight on his bill, catch the popular eye by pandering to the prejudice against the big pasture men already aroused by prearrangement months ago by the Galveston News, and this starter, together with the boom which the News could give him, was depended upon to carry the day. The senator, however, was only to serve as far in the little arrangement as to the convention, but he was to look forward to running in the future when a United States senator is to be elected.

The attitude of Gov. Ireland toward the railroads, or his supposed attitude, has aroused and alarmed the managers, and they desire his abdication of the executive office. It is the general opinion that the people of Texas will be sorely disappointed in the workings of the Gibson railroad bill, and that the Nineteenth legislature will, on that account, go into vigorous railroad legislation, in which event they do not desire Governor Ireland, with his supposed railroad views, in power. He has been referred to as a long and consistent opponent of the railroads since his memorable fight, as state senator, against the subsidies given by the legislature years ago. The fact is also mentioned that, aside from his opposition by force of his position as a railroad attorney, Col. Flournoy has had no special liking for Gov. Ireland since the latter refused to support the colonel in his candidacy for United States senator. There are also some rumors in regard to a compact with Huntington involving the question of deep water, Texas outlet, etc. The foregoing, as before remarked, is simply made up from gossip, rumor and reports, and the Post repeats them only because of their general currency around the lobbies of the capitol and upon the streets of the city.

WICHITA COUNTY.

A Petition to the Legislature—The Federal Court—Personal.

Correspondence of the Gazette.
Wichita Falls, January 22.—There is now in circulation among the citizens and taxpayers of this county a petition directed to the legislature expressing the opinion of stockmen, farmers and citizens of the Falls in regard to the fence-cutting question. It is so agitating the state at large, as yet there has not been a wire fence cut in this county, nor do our citizens anticipate the trouble at all. However, they are desirous of giving vent to their feelings in the matter and sympathizing with those counties that have been cursed with this evil.
A letter from the bar association at Decatur, dated January 21, says: "On seeing that the people of Wichita county are making an effort to secure the location of the federal court at Wichita Falls, we beg leave to say that the bar and citizens of this place are with you and will gladly do anything we can to aid in the matter, knowing so well the superior advantages of your place to any yet named." They also place a petition to be sent them enumerating the advantages of the Falls, etc., so they can have it duly signed by the citizens generally and forward the same to their number of congress. The request has been complied with and our citizens are very hopeful of succeeding in securing the location of the federal court.
A large and complete stock of new saddlery, harness and saddle hair, ware, improved guns, pistols and ammunition has just been received by Mr. John F. Keller, who has located the brick building No. 3 in what is known as the "Jahnebeck block."
Mr. Charles Goodnight, one of the most extensive cattle shippers in the state, passed through town this morning with Judge J. A. Brown, en route for their home at Clarendon, Dallas county.

Mr. W. A. McCutchen and bride left the city yesterday on a visit to Galveston, to be gone several weeks.

TAYLOR COUNTY.

Social and Personal Notes in Abilene—On for Arizona.

Correspondence of the Gazette.

Abilene, January 22.—There was a pleasant hop at the court house last evening, given in honor of Miss Winnie Murray of Galveston by her admirers in Abilene.

Wm. Cameron of the lumber, banking and hardware firms of Cameron & Co., has been in town since Sunday morning. He leaves this afternoon for Waco.

Mr. L. Bertolotti of Sweetwater is here on business pertaining to the Franco-Texas Land company.

Messrs. M. G. Hurley and J. J. Roche of Fort Worth came in on this morning's train to look after their land interests in Taylor county, and see the "Queen of the West."

Mr. W. H. Wilson of Dallas has come to Abilene with a view to locate and engage in business here. This is his first visit, and he expresses the most surprise that a city of such proportions as ours should have sprung up on a bald prairie.

Mr. Martin of the firm of Martin, Byrne & Johnson of Colorado, is in the city arranging preliminaries for the work on the court house.

Work is now progressing on the new office of the Pacific Express company.

A new two-story business house is being erected on Walnut street.

Cassensbury & Co. have opened up their new wholesale liquor house on the corner of Chestnut and First streets.

There is considerable city property changing hands here, and the town is improving steadily and as rapidly as at any time during its history. The new houses in course of construction appear almost as numerous as those already completed.

P. W. Brewer, one of the oldest settlers of Taylor county, left this morning for Arizona to look for a ranch. He says the sheepmen and farmers are literally taking this country, and that it is all time that he and all other cattlemen were seeking "pastures new." Mr. C. W. Merchant, J. H. Paramore, and other large cattle-owners have already taken their cattle to Arizona, and Mr. Merchant says his stock do well there.

DENTON COUNTY.

Personal Paragraphs From Pilot Point—The Wheat Crop.

Several bales of cotton came in yesterday and to-day.

The reported statement that the wheat crop in this county is greatly from the freezing weather is contradicted, and the prospect for a good crop is now flattering.
